STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin
City Marshal Cates, of Belfast, on Thursday of last week, received a notice from the police of Auburn, giving the description of a boy who was missing from that place. The description given answered to one of three boys who were committed to Belfast jail, as a tramp, on Jan 17th. Mr ... answered to the above effect, and on Friday Mr. Carroll arrived, recognized the boy as his son, and on Saturday took him home. The boy is about sixteen years of age, and with two other boys from L... was to ... it home on the 7th of January tramping to Belfast by the way of ... The boys gave fictitious names when they were tried before the court.

At South Durham one family are three aged people whose united ages are two hundred and forty five years. Two of them were born on the old homestead, one a lady of more than eighty (Mrs. Michael Holland) who not only born, but has always lived there, was married and raised a family of nine children, all of whom lived to become men and women before the family was broken by death. At the present time ... dwelling ... representatives of four generations. Mr. H. has lived to see the few changes ... name four times and the wild ... of his childhood's days has become a city.

Mr. David Smith, of Lisbon, who was so badly hurt at Purington's mill, not long ago, by being caught on a revolving shaft, has been in a very critical condition ever since. The cords and muscles of the broken arm were so bruised and twisted that the doctors think the sloughing of the flesh will prevent a union of the bone. It will probably be necessary to amputate the arm as soon as it can be done with safety. The severe pounding he received brought on a state of fever which rendered his situation highly dangerous.

Aroostook
The people at Sherman had a general good time at the town hall Saturday evening in recognition of the late glorious turn political matters have taken. The hall was illuminated and a rallying song of cheers for Blaine and Davis was sung and ... with cheers and applause. Several speeches were made by patriotic citizens and a general time of rejoicing was had until a late hour. There is no lack of sympathy with the right and gratitude to Mr. Blaine and his associates.

Franklin.
Mr. Stephen Perry, a well to do farmer of Avon, about 70 years of age, was quite seriously injured while at work in the woods. The top of a cedar had been left hanging in a sapling; a falling spruce struck the sapling, bending it down, and when released it rebounded with force enough to dislodge the cedar, which, in its fall, struck Mr. P. on the shoulder, knocking him senseless. His shoulder was badly injured. He was at once taken to his house, and is doing well.

Kennebec.
By direction of the priest, the Catholic parents in the Fort Point district, Waterville, have taken their children out of the school there.

About a hundred feet of new stone wall is being built along the Kennebec near the bridge at Augusta. The wall was badly needed. Some 4,300 cubic feet of stone will be used in its construction.

Miss Clara L. Small and Miss Addie N. Owen of Augusta, graduates of the Augusta High school, class '78, are to enter the Normal school at Gorham at the beginning of the term next week.

Lincoln.
Cornelius Heyer, now living in Waldoboro, in the north part of the town, is a remarkable man for his years. He is ninety-four years old. He goes into the woods and cuts all the firewood for the family and prepares it for the stove, and takes care of the barn a portion of the time. His father, Conrad Heyer, the first male white child born in Waldoboro, walked to the village, a distance of five miles, when he was one hundred and three years old. He died at the age of 106 years, 10 months.

Washington.
A petition has been quite generally signed by citizens of Calais, asking the appointment of Mr. C. H. Porter as Indian Agent, if any vacancy occurs, and another strong petition is in circulation in favor of Mr. J. M. Dyer for census taker.

A happy event took place at the house of Wm. Sederquest, in Calais, during last week, in which Mrs. Wm. Sargent, aged seventy-two, and Mr. David Hill, aged seventy-three, a resident of the Ledge, N. B., were joined in the bonds of matrimony. The happy bride accompanied her husband to his home on Saturday last.

At the annual meeting of the St. Croix Library Association, at Calais, held on Thursday afternoon last, officers for the ensuing year were elected with the Hon. Joseph Granger as President. The financial standing of the Association was found in a not very satisfactory condition, the expenses somewhat exceeding the earnings. Measures, however, were suggested for the purpose of meeting the deficiency and to place the Association in good running condition for the current year.

NEW MAGAZINES
The February number of ST. NICHOLAS is at hand and will more than come up to the expectation of the little ones. The children of these times are to be congratulated upon having put before them a magazine filled with the finest literature by the most celebrated writers. The contributors to this month are Alfred Tennyson, Louisa M. Alcott, Celia Thaxter, E. S. Phelps, Frances Hodgson Burnet, besides many others all of the writings accompanied by illustrations by eminent artists. Perhaps the most interesting at this season of the year will be the paper on Snow-Sports for Girls and Boys with five illustrations by Daniel C. Beard. Among the Lakes, and Jack and Jill still keep the young folks on the qui vive of expectation, while Jack-in-the-pulpit is as lively as ever. The worth of this number cannot be understood until it is seen and the children can never become too old to enjoy it.

SCRIBNER comes to us in a fresh cover for the Midwinter, and with its usual amount of interesting matter. The serial that has been running through the past few months is concluded, and the admirers of the charming writer, Frances Hodgson Burnett, will be delighted to begin a new story, Louisiana from her pen. An authoritative account of Edison's Electric Light will please the reader by its comprehensiveness and yet its simplicity. A Wheel Around the Hub is a lively sketch of a two day's trip of forty bicycle owners and is accompanied by very fine illustrations. New England Fences become superbly illustrated and is well worth the price of the book. Present Phases of Sunday School Work, a practical paper by Edward Eggleston will find many appreciative readers. The book is replete with live, interesting thoughts presented in a pleasing manner and is one of the best numbers yet published.

MORE GUBERNATORIAL CHEEK!

We print to day five of the remarkable productions of the person who now occupies the office of "Attorney of the State, for Penobscot County," to be vaporingly styled himself in his premature proclamation against ministers and editors. Either of these pronunciamentos would fully demonstrate the utter unfitness of the author to hold any position of public responsibility, but the latter and more virulent of his utterances renders him so conspicuously unworthy to hold office as the public prosecutor in the State Courts for this County, that it becomes the obvious duty of those having the power to remove him from a position where he stands as an embodied insult to the Court, as an avowed enemy of the State Government, under which he is attorney, must be summarily cut, and as a public pusher of disregard for the mandates of law which he is sworn to uphold.

In any ordinary case we might object to the impudence of the exercise of the power to remove an officer by address, but this case is unique in the history of Maine, if not exceptional in the annals of the United States. That any important officer of the Court, exercising quasi powers and bearing serious responsibilities should proclaim in a public newspaper that the highest Court he has to go to is "an impotent," has become an "oligarchy," and has destroyed our "republican form of government," is so monstrous an outrage that it would be a public crime to fail to note and effectively punish it.

Here is an "Attorney of the State" declaring the State Government a fraud, and insisting that a body declared illegal by the Supreme Court is "the rightful" and "Constitutional Legislature!" And this person, who thus publicly encourages the lawless to defy and disregard the authority of our highest Judicial tribunal, and who calls himself an enemy of the Government of the State, is the same who only a few weeks ago fulminated threats of foreign pum-hment of "High Treason" on those who may smile to seek felonies."

The absolute unfitness of such a person to hold the office of pro-secuting attorney under a State Government whose authority he publicly defies, and in the Court which he so insultingly impeaches, is so plain that every law-abiding citizen of what ever party must recognize it. To permit such a man to remain in such an office after such a public defiance of the State, of the law and of decency, would be a gross wrong to the highest interests of the community.

"THE TRUTH"

Mark Harden, the contemptible Utah Mimp of the late thieving public at the state House, has come to the surface in the Bangor Commercial with a stupid attempt to charge Governor Davis with the abstraction of Garcelon's private letters. This silly effort will fail to divert attention from the villainous correspondence that has been fortunately brought to light. As a matter of fact the Council and Executive chamber were visited by a large number of obscure Republicans as soon as they were thrown open on the evening of the movement, and all the things left lying around loose by the conspirators in their flight were carefully scanned. In the unpromising rummaging by subordinate some one chanced upon the letters and report that have since been publicly made public, and which we heard of their existence we at once took pains to procure copies for the information of our readers. Any pretense that the claim of privacy should shield such evidence of the workings of a monstrous conspiracy, is too absurd to obtain any favor from the public, and no attempt to charge this or that person with "abstraction of confidential letters" will divert the popular mind from the proofs of rascality it has exposed. We do not know who found those documents, but the people of Maine generally are glad that they were found and published. The "violation of confidence" cry, when raised by conspirators bold in attempting to revolutionize a State by fraud, is altogether too thin!

From the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, (Dem.) Jan 28:

A RIGHTFUL AND PEACEFUL END OF THE TROUBLE IN MAINE

The end has been reached in Maine which the Eagle foresaw from the beginning, and very gladly welcomes now. The Democratic members of the Legislature relied upon the fact that they held their seats through the certificates given them by the former Governor and Council, and they held that only the Legislature itself could go behind the certificates, and that must be more than the Democrats designated by the Governor should pass upon the whole question at once. In answer to certain interrogatories submitted to the Supreme Court of the State by the Democratic themselves, the Court also took with the same question.

The report of the Committee of the Council and the action of the Governor and Council thereon, of which we gave the material points, shows that such were also submitted and considered upon grounds which that Court declined, in their answer to Governor Garcelon's question, to be judicially considered. It appears by our specially cleared that there is not a majority in the House of Representatives which undertook to organize on the first Wednesday of January without counting in who could only appear to be elected between the late Governor and Council rejected modes which the Court declared in their answer to be questions to be considered. Blunt and Webb. They say were not, in fact, elected. They did not appear to be elected by the returns canvassed in the manner in which the Constitution and laws, rightfully interpreted, required he Governor and Council to canvass them. We cannot recognize a House of Representatives, to make a quorum in which the presence of these men was necessary, as a lawfully constituted body, or capable of performing any of the functions of a House of Representatives, when the protest was made in behalf of those who were in fact elected by the people.

In the face of the decision of the Court, the Democratic Legislature, or what is left of it, will now disperse, and it will be demonstrated once more that a government of law is, when the whole, the strongest kind of government and rather more satisfactory than any other sort of government yet devised.

WHAT REMAINS.

We must beg the Boston Fusion organists and politicians who are so anxious to know whether we have got to the bottom of that "barrel" of highly interesting correspondence, to possess their souls in patience, and wait for instalments yet to come. None of the "patriots" who furnished such ardent epistolary aid and comfort to the conspirators will be neglected, but they shall all have the delights of seeing their names in print in due time.

TWO PROCLAMATIONS.

MADE THREATENING MINISTERS AND EDITORS.

MADE DEFYING AND DENOUNCING THE SUPREME COURT.

(From the Penobscot Commercial, Jan 31, 1880)

A Card to the People of Penobscot County.

I have taken and subscribed the oath of office as Attorney of the State for Penobscot county for the term of three years from January 1st, 1880. Circumstances may now justify me in making the following statement:

I shall consider it among the duties of my office to present before the grand jury at the coming criminal term for said county all cases of the kind now pending in any municipal court of said county of a grave nature of high treason and also those where they are presented magistrates of the gospel or editors of political papers.

D. H. MACE,
County Attorney elect.

(From the Maine Standard, Jan 30, 1880)

Card to the Commissioned Governor And Executive Council.

To the Editor of the Standard:

It is a fundamental principle in our system of republican government that no law-breaker, whether he be in every state or territory, the executive, legislative and judicial. Each in its own sphere, is supreme and independent of the others.

It is plainly within the duties of the executive branch, to count and tabulate the returns and to issue certificates to those appearing to have been elected.

Whether the executive wishes to consult the judicial branch, he may do so, and the opinion rendered is merely advisory and not mandatory nor even directory. The whole question as to who is and who is not elected goes from the executive to the legislative branch, where each house is the final judge of its own members.

If the executive attempts to control the action of another branch, or to usurp the rights and duties of both, the latter constitutes, branches and every form of government is changed from a republic to an oligarchy. This is my opinion, is the case at present in this State. We are no longer a republic but an oligarchy.

Now the question is what shall we do? The constitution of the United States has provided for just such a case of things. The fourth section of the fourth article of that instrument is as follows:

"The United States shall guarantee to every State in this union a Republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature, or of the executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened against domestic violence."

The present government is changed from a republic to an oligarchy, and is not "a Republican form of government," and the representatives of the people are excluded from the very State house, by "domestic violence."

The constitutional Legislature is still convened in halls not its own, nor belonging to the people. The duty of that Legislature is to unconstitutional usurpation, and to the people of the country in a republican form of government, which duty it is to vindicate the right of Legislature, and to prevent the State from domestic violence.

This should be done at once, or the usurped authority may soon open upon the de facto government of the State.

E. M. MACE.

THE LAW OF ELECTIONS.

DEARBORN, Jan'y 28, 1880.

To the Editor of the Ins and Courier

Since some persons have thought, on, or hinted to think, that the Supreme Court in passing upon the interrogatories recently propounded to them on several occasions, have announced novel doctrines of law to meet special exigencies, a review of the authorities herein cited may serve to aid in correcting such error.

The subpœnas of these inferior, specifies that a certificate or summons to a person who does not appear by the record and returns to have been elected, that who on the contrary appears by such record and returns not to have been elected, as void; and that one legally elected is entitled to the office although no certificate of election or summons has been issued to him. This could seem to "plain people" to be common sense.

If a Clerk of a Judicial Court should issue an execution against a person, in favor of a pretended creditor, when no judgment had been rendered, nor any writ of the execution been authorized to issue, and when in fact the alleged debt was paid, would the execution protect the executive to the ministerial branch, where each house is the final judge of its own members.

If the judiciary attempts to control the action of another branch, or to usurp the rights and duties of both, the latter constitutes, branches and every form of government is changed from a republic to an oligarchy. This is my opinion, is the case at present in this State. We are no longer a republic but an oligarchy.

Now the question is what shall we do? The constitution of the United States has provided for just such a case of things. The fourth section of the fourth article of that instrument is as follows:

LOSSES BY FIRE

At Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The bakery of Frank Field & Co., at the corner of Desplaines and Washington streets, a four-story brick building valued at $20,000, was burned last night. The stock was valued at $30,000 and the machinery at $14,000 Insurance on the stock $20,000, machinery, $5000.

At Nashua, N. H.

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 31.—Soon after the fire before reported in the Worcester & Nashua Depot had been extinguished and the engines had been housed, a second alarm was given at midnight. It was found that Lowe & Tolle's lumber yard was on fire, and also that of Cook & Shedd, and the ell part of the dwelling house owned and occupied by Mrs Dr Harwood, clairvoyant physician; each of these fires was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. The fires in the lumber yards were quickly subdued, and the entire force of the fire department was directed to the Harwood building, the ell of which was burning with fearful rapidity. Immediately after the depot threw strong west wind, causing the flames rapidly across, carrying masses of sparks to the surrounding buildings. Many valuable private dwellings, including Mayor Holme's elegant residence and the wooden buildings of the Nashua lock shop, all situated within a radius of a few hundred yards, were endangered, and were it not for the almost superhuman activity of the fire department Nashua would have witnessed a greater conflagration than it has before experienced. The Harwood house is on Eldredge street, insured in the Ætna for $2300. Loss on the lumber, house and furniture probably $4000 for St. John left this city, Conductor Pollister started through the cars to punch the tickets, when he came across a very small boy who, on being asked for a ticket, produced an envelope nearly as large as himself, with considerable writing on it. As he was in a hurry at the time Mr. Pollister told the boy he would see him again and after attending to his duties, he returned for the purpose of examining the pretentious document. It proved to be a way bill signed by the express messenger, on the Eastern Railroad, stating that the boy was on "his way to New Glasgow to start an orphan asylum and rumbled upon us at Ipswich." The bill also contained the names of the conductor on that road and on the Maine Central. Mr. Pollister added his name and got the boy his dinner at Vanceboro and then turned him over to Conductor Brown, on the St. John & Maine Railway. In this way the young man continued his journey, arrived safely at New Glasgow and a few days since the way bill returned, being passed from one conductor to another. Mr. Pollister said that when it reached him it was completely written over on both sides, there being hardly room enough left to make a mark
